

Verification & Validation Junior engineer for Check- Cap LTD

V&V Engineer for Integration Testing is responsible for products testing in early development stages. This individual is the process owner for the sub system level Integration testing and Proof of Design (POD) process, to prove that systems meet their design. This individual will also participate in System level testing.

Responsibilities

- Generate test design outputs of high quality within defined timeline;
- Execute test plans efficiently within defined timeline;
- Initiate improvements of the test design and execution process;
- Test activities done on time, with 100% coverage to Requirements, with 100% actual vs. planned, with no critical/high severity escaping defects;
- Efficiently communicate with all relevant R&D members to self-manage tasks;
- Commits to R&D deliveries;
- Adhere to company's quality standards, V&V doc templates;
- Adhere to medical industry standards;
- Keeps V&V group leader up to date on all issues and concerns as well as achievements;
- Knowledge sharing with team members and guidance demonstration.

Requirements

- Graduated bio-medical engineer (or any relevant science field)
- Team player, versatile, independent.
- hands-on and analytical person.

Click to get to us better →

Contact- Shani Keren- E-mail: shani.keren@check-cap.com ,phone # 054-8008333