

Product Specialist

Job description:

We at CathWorks, a dynamic successful and well-funded medical device startup in the field of cardiac imaging are looking for experienced Product specialist.

As a product specialist you will define product specifications for HW & SW, take part in concept design processes and will be a professional authority.

You will work closely with the development teams and interface with all parts of the organization.

The product specialist will visit customer sites in the USA, EU and Japan and will train users along with documentation for ongoing improvements.

Requirements:

Experience in writing high level and detailed specifications

Ability to prioritize on going scrum team tasks

Experience in customer facing tasks and training

Participated in design reviews and perform acceptance tests

Excellent English – Spoken and written

Experience in Cath lab workflow – advantage

University B.Sc. Degree

Send your CV: oded@cath.works